About Me

With over 14+ years of dedicated service in higher education and academic administration, I have committed to nurturing young minds and fostering a culture of knowledge, discipline, and excellence. As a Principal of an Arts and Science College, I strongly believe in holistic education that integrates academic rigor with ethical values and social responsibility. I strive to create a student-centric learning environment that encourages innovation, critical thinking, and lifelong learning. My vision is to empower students to achieve personal growth, professional success, and meaningful contribution to society. I also aim to strengthen industry-academia partnerships to enhance employability and practical exposure, while promoting research, innovation, and entrepreneurship among students and faculty. I focus on implementing technology-driven teaching methods for a more engaging learning experience and ensuring continuous quality improvement through training, feedback, and academic audits. Furthermore, I am committed to building a value-based campus culture that nurtures leadership, responsibility, and global citizenship.
